Dear Dr. Wenrich:

Is it too late to make a minor correction on the ms. by Tatum and myself for the A.A.A.S. Symposium? On the title page, of the ms., a footnote reads "Paper No. 498...." There was some mixup in our office and this should read No. 510.

Do you know whether we can anticipate getting proofs for corrections? If so, the above can be ignored for the moment.

If not, I may be able to perfect some incomplete bibliographic references now:

DeLamater, E.D. 1952.Genetics 37, 576.

Fried, P.J. and Lederberg, J. 1952. ... Genetics 37, 582.

Lederberg, J. and Lederberg, E.M. 1953 : the authors are transposed.

Lederberg, J., Cavalli, L.L. and Lederberg, E.M. 1953. Should read:

1952. Sex compatibility in Escherichia coli. Genetics 38, 720-730.

Zinder and Lederberg 1952: J. Bact. 64, 679-699.

This leaves Lederberg, E.M. and Lederberg, J., 1953 as the only reference still in press, but this is not due for another two months, and it may be necessary to leave it as is.

Yours sincerely,

Joshua Lederberg
